On Sunday Police Officer and Mrs.
John Irish of No. 146 Laurel Hill avenue quietly observed the 50th anniversary of their married life.
On Oct. 15, 1866, John Irish was married to Emily Corning Nash by Rev. Edgar F. Clark, pastor of the East Main street Methodist church.
Weather conditions have changed much in fifty years for a howling snow storm was raging on that day, while today his garden is full of hundreds of beautiful dahlias.
Arriving in New York the next day by boat they were guests at the celebrated old Astor House.
A much prized souvenir of that trip was a silk stove pipe hat worn by the groom which has always been dis-man.

Mrs. Irish has been active in the work of the Women's Relief Corps, being one of its charter members and at one time its president. She is also an active member of of Asa and Emity Corning Nash of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Irish have always resided in Norwich spending the early part of their married life in the old mansion on East Main street on the site now occupied by the Norwich post office.

Ste is also an active member of Faith Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R.

Among the many gifts received by them on this occasion were several gold pieces of large denomination and a beautiful gold loving cup.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Irish enpoy excellent health and their many friends Markerly life Mr. Irish had mastered wish them many years to come of the trade of a carpenter but thirty-

This season we have filled 286 cans, basides putting up a quantity of telegister.

This season we have filled 286 cans, besides putting up a quantity of jellies and jams. I have one hundred and thirty-one variaties. We are not through yet for we expect to fill quite a number of cans later. Anyone using this method of canning will find it satisfactory provided they have a good place to store the products. They should be kept where it is cool and dark, therefore I would advise that the cellar be used as a place of storage. We always store our canned goods in the cellar and have good luck in keeping them.

Jellies and jams will keep much better in a cool closet upstairs than in the cellar, which is generally damp. What we have put up thus far is that people have not wanted as much canned.

Anyone having a good stock of fruit and vegetables on hand will find them a great help for when snow is flying in the winter and they can not go out in the orchard and garden for fruit and vegetables, they can go to the cellar and get a can ready for use. Try it next year and see what a saving it is.

Miss Norton estimates the cost of her canning this year at $39.4p and her receipts estimated by the value of products canned at the price it would cost to secure them on the market at $107.45. This would leave a net profit of $68.03.
